Our employees, contractors, partners, customers, neighbors, and communities deserve to work and live in a safe and healthy world both today and for generations to come.

At WACKER, safety, health, process safety, security, environmental protection, and product safety are among our core values. These core values are a precondition to everything we do and align with the guiding principles of Responsible Care®.

We establish business management systems and engage with interested parties, especially those who work for and with us, to promote open communication and dialogue that ensures safety, maintains regulatory compliance, prevents pollution, provides safe products, and drives continuous improvement.

WACKER is passionate and relentless in our vision to become the safest and most sustainable chemical company in the world.
